Ask Our Nutritionist

Q. I love to go hiking and camping and am very concerned about getting bitten by a tick, which I know can cause serious illness from Lyme disease. I also don't want to get bitten by mosquitos. What can you recommend?

A. Tick Wise Insect Repellent by 3 Mom's Organics is a pure deet-free product that you spray on your skin and your clothing, particularly your shoes, socks and areas that will come in contact with grass where ticks are present. This product is made from natural essential oils. It contains cedarwood, geranium, citronella, peppermint, lemongrass and rosemary in a base of water, vinegar, glycerin and vanillin. Tick Wise can be used on adults, children, dogs and horses. In addition to repelling ticks, it also repels mosquitos. Nantucket Spider and Badger are also companies that make deet-free repellent for mosquitoes made from essential oils.

When camping or in your backyard, you can use Nantucket Spider Mosquito and Fly Repelling Outdoor Garden Incense Sticks. They are made from essential oils, are deet-free and burn for approximately 90 minutes.

We also offer Cliganic Mosquito repellent patches, a convenient solution for your hiking trips. These stick on patches, containing citronella and peppermint, provide long-lasting protection without reapplication, giving you peace of mind during outdoor activities.

Do not use any of these products on cats as they are very sensitive to essential oils and can cause serious side effects.
