Ask Our Nutritionist

Q: Every winter, my skin becomes extremely dry—especially my fingers, which can crack and become uncomfortable. What can help?

A: This is a common issue caused by cold, dry outdoor air combined with the dry heat inside our homes. A daily supplement called Omega-7, derived from sea buckthorn bark, can help support moisture throughout the body from head to toe. It is also an excellent option for relieving dry eyes. For daily moisture, consider applying lotions such as Shikai Body Lotion, Derma E Shea Body Lotion, Weleda Skin Food Ultra-Rich Cream, Everyone Nourishing Lotion, The Unscented Company Lotion, Shea Radiance Whipped Body Butter, Tallow & Honey Balm, or UpCircle Body Cream. For extra relief from severely dry or cracked fingers, Puremedy Intensive Skin Repair can be especially helpful. Using a gentle glycerin-based soap in the shower can also aid in preventing dryness caused by harsh soaps. All of these creams and lotions are cruelty-free and made without parabens, dyes, or phthalates.
