Ask The Expert

Q: What can women do today to invest in their long-term health?

A: Women's wellness goes beyond treating individual symptoms. A functional nutrition approach looks at the bigger picture—hormones, digestion, blood sugar, stress, sleep, energy, and nutrient status. Build a strong foundation with quality protein, colorful fruits and vegetables, fiber, healthy fats, hydration, movement, and restorative sleep. Targeted supplementation may help fill nutritional gaps with options such as vitamin D, magnesium, omega-3s, B vitamins, collagen peptides, and probiotics. Supplements should complement—not replace—a nutritious diet, recommended screenings, or medical care.

During Breast Cancer Awareness Month, remember that breast health is part of whole-body health. Know your personal risk, stay informed, and make proactive choices that support your health for years to come.

Visit any of our five Feel Rite Fresh Market locations to speak with our knowledgeable staff and learn more. Stop in or call your nearest location to schedule a free consultation with one of our nutritionists, Jamie Berent or Linda Griffin.
